

Visiting Fellowships Laureate Program in Global Corporations and International Law, 2023-2027

A limited number of Visiting Fellowships are available annually for researchers to participate in the Laureate Program in Global Corporations and International Law at Melbourne Law School at the University of Melbourne. Visiting Fellows will be integrated into the Program, attend weekly reading groups, research meetings, and work in progress seminars. They will have the opportunity to workshop a draft and receive feedback from the team on their own work and to receive mentoring during their visit. They will have a workspace, library access, and will not be required to pay any visitors fees. They will be able to access other events at Melbourne Law School and the University.
